ONE TRIAL WILL BE SUFFICIENT

"If you have any work in the way of binding, ruling or bookmaking, bring it to The Bonanza bindery. The plant has been in operation long enough to show the people of Tonopah that they can get just as good work here as any place on the coast. It is open to the public at all times during the day, and there are plenty of exhibits on hand to show the character of the work that is being done.

One trial will be sufficient to insure your patronage."

ALMOST HUMAN

(Note—In Madrid recently King Alfonso appeared in public with the infant Spanish prince in his arms). Hark to the tidings from old Madrid; Alfonso, the king, he carried the kid. He did, And did it docilely, without any bones. The same as a Smith or a Brown or a Jones. Or, as you'd expect Any hubby henpecked. To lug baby just as the boss would direct.

And when all the truth has leaked out, Do you doubt, We'll learn Alfie hops out of bed every night And sings "Tra-la-la" Like a real good papa. While walking the floor in the yellow moonlight. In fact, soothes his youngster as you would soothe yours; Hums "Rock-a-bye Baby," gets down on all fours And coaxes and wheedles And finds the lost needles. The pins and tacks, with his feet, on the floor? —Oakland Tribune.

AT LAST WE HAVE IT!
COOK WITH GAS

The Gas Company has gas in the mains, and we have a full line of gas stoves at prices that are right. Think of the pleasure and convenience these hot days to have a gas range in your kitchen. Besides it is by far the cheapest fuel in Tonopah at present. Come in and see our stock and let us tell you all about it.

THE DIVORCE TANGLE

Amid all the fun poked at the divorce habit, little is said of the embarrassment consequent on the woman's failure to enter matrimony again when the man has taken another wife, says the New York Press. Yet there are dozens of instances in which serious confusion has resulted from such a condition and doubtless many a woman who has given her hand to a divorced man regrets the step on that account alone. For example, Mrs. Smith gets a divorce and Smith marries a second time. The query is, who is Mrs. John Smith? If the woman getting the divorce is the aggrieved party in the suit, she has a perfect right to keep on calling herself Mrs. John Smith. She may have "Mrs. Mary Smith" engraved on her cards if she likes, but she is not obliged to do so. Of course, the second Mrs. Smith also is Mrs. John Smith, and no doubt it annoys her terribly to see her predecessor's at homes chronicled in the society column under a name she feels rightfully is hers alone. Yet what can she do? Nothing, absolutely nothing. She can't well call herself Mrs. Jane Smith, for that would imply she herself was a widow or divorcee. All she can do is to keep on explaining as long as the condition lasts, which may be all her life. And it's equally perplexing to mutual acquaintances of the two women. How are Mistresses Smith to be differentiated? One can't wiggle out of it by referring to Mrs. John Smith the elder and Mrs. Smith the younger, for there may be no difference of age. To call the divorcee Mrs. John Smith No. 1 and the new wife Mrs. John Smith No. 2 wouldn't be good form, and it would be as bad to refer to the second Mrs. Smith merely as "John Smith's wife."
